

July 2010

photoG quarterly

Hello friends! Over the last quarter I have been developing and specialising my brand on three core themes being Travel and Photojournalism, Destination Weddings and Learning. To this end, I have had to reject some work but believe this is the better long-term strategy. More info is on my website and below! Come join me in my first photo course in Singapore!

REGARDS,
GLENN

Not-for-profit Book shoot...

A US not for profit organisation called 100 Faces selected me as the Singapore representative photographer to shoot "local women, beautiful in their own culture". Many thanks to my friends for volunteering to be my models! Some results below...

Frustrating addendum: After spending much effort in this shooting this project, 100 Faces organisation lost their funding for the project. Everything is now on the shelf. grrr!

Recent travel...

Berlin - A vibrant arty city full of street performances, art and old war culture.

Amsterdam - Aware of the hype, this is a very pretty town (too small for a city) where there are more bikes and cannabis than cars and people!

Brussels - A historical prelude to France. Grand Place definitely a place to do coffee.

Paris - My first trip to Paris and like New York, I did not want to leave. For me it is a city of much allure. Maybe one day soon it will be my future home ;)

Europe photo selection on Facebook here... <http://bit.ly/ch7ZXS>

Hong Kong - Always a fun and quick trip from Singapore. This time I got to Ngong Sing 360 park and the Big Buddha. Photos on Facebook... <http://bit.ly/9ST41H>

New locations...

Travel plans for Q3 include Krabi, Cameron Highlands and New Zealand.

Photography Learning...

I am running my first photo learning course in Singapore this August 14. This interactive focus will be "Get to know your SLR" and is designed to help you enable you to understand the full potential of your camera and self. Details here ... <http://bit.ly/cZkYIK>

Indian Weddings...

After great attempt to book an Indian wedding I finally won the opportunity to shoot two different Indian wedding celebrations comprising six events! What an amazing and exhausting experience! Such a contrast to the typical western afternoon wedding. Indians are steeped deeply in religious ceremonies with one tradition following the next. A beautiful and colourful affair to remember! See a small selection of the 1600 photos here... <http://bit.ly/9aNP2d> and here... <http://bit.ly/cXwPk7>

Some recent stock images

The Louvre, Paris

Paris Eiffel Tower

Buddha offering, Macau

Punjabi bride, 4 days event!

Hindu bride @ 4am

